USE OF SUBSTITUTES FOR HARD COAL URGED TO WHIP BELLIGERENTS INTO LINE

President and Cabinet Do Not Fear Strike, Which Would Harm Anthracite Industry More Than Public, Lawrence Says—Oil and Soft Coal Will Be Used If Strike Is Called—Prejudices Against Soft Coal Removed

(By DAVID LAWRENCE)
(Copyright 1923)

WASHINGTON, Aug 23. —President Coolidge and his cabinet do not fear an anthracite coal strike. They think the miners and operators of hard coal have more to fear than the consumers. Should there be an anthracite strike this fall, the conviction of most everybody in the government is that the American people will grow so tired of the constant wrangling over hard coal prices and the inconveniences of frequent strikes that once and for all a large body of consumers will begin using soft coal and will permanently cut down the market for hard coal.

The impression was conveyed today from official sources that if the contending forces in the anthracite controversy go to the extreme of permitting a strike, they will simply be cutting off their noses to spite their faces. Instead of the weapon of necessity and indispensability which has enabled both operators and miners to exact from the public higher prices, the use of substitutes may be practiced this year on such an unprecedented scale as to injure permanently the hard coal business.

Altho the government cannot be a party to the injury of any industry or to the promotion of the use of substitutes for hard coal, the fact is every step taken in the last few weeks had tended in that direction. Encouragement has been quietly given to those institutions which have carried on a campaign of education thruout regions where hard coal is ordinarily consumed—oil being suggested wherever possible as well as the use of soft coal.

The prejudices against soft coal have been in large part removed. Testimony showing that soft coal can be obtained in lumps not larger than hard coal and that other substitutes cheaper than hard coal can be effectively used is being distributed by business

PRAISES OF LIME ARE SOUNDED BY SUCCESSFUL MEN

The Oak Grove Lime Company, thru their secretary, George Stonehocker and president Daniel Gribble gave interesting data at the Oak Grove grange meeting Wednesday night arising thru the carrying out of their lime project, during the past few years.

The company was incorporated, with 45 stockholders, for the purpose of providing lime necessary for the improvement of the farms of the stockholders. The crushed lime is sold only to stockholders and has been furnished, at the plant located near the center of the community, at a cost of $3.00 to $3.50 per ton. During the year ending this fall 500 tons will have been used by the company.

Mr. Stonehocker said, at the meeting, "we think this is a very reasonable price for our lime, in view of the fact that our limestone analyzes 100 percent whereas most shipped-in stones analyze from 90 to 95 percent, that this sone is very finely pulverised thereby enabling it to become readily available, and that we have it close to our farms. Few, if any, pulverized limes can be shipped in at a cost as low as that for which it can be produced right on the farms where it is available."

The Oak Grove farmers feel that no other thing they have done has brot to their farms greater benefits than this lime project.

COSHOCTON MAN IS HURT IN NEW YORK

Henry Robson, local tailor, 223 south Eighth st, received a message from New York City Thursday that Frank St. Johns, this city, who is almost blind, was confined to a hospital in New York suffering from a fractured shoulder.

He was struck by a Studebaker car which he and his step-daughter were [illegible] on the curb at [illegible] Eighty Fourth sts. The [illegible] seated on a bench at Rivers[illegible] Park and had gone out to the curb to cross Drive-st when the car reversed and ran into St. Johns.

St. Johns was immediately removed to a hospital where his injuries were treated. After his injuries were dressed St. Johns said "I guess you can't kill a man from Ohio."

St. Johns had been in New York for a month visiting his step-daughter Ada Thompson, who sent the message to Mr. Robson concerning his accident.

Yes, We Have None Of The 2,000 Kinds Of Scotch Whiskey

LONDON, Aug 23.—It may interest thirsty Americans to know that there are over 2,000 distinct brands of Scotch whiskey.

The list of registered brands which has just been issued shows some surprising ingenuity in selection of names. Among the registered names are: "Real Stingo," "Sure Delight," "Bury the Corkscrew," "We Fear No Foe," "Wee Nipple" and "Zummat Good."

FRANCE FIRM IN REPLY TO BRITISH REPARATIONS NOTE

Point-by-Point Reply Is Made; Ruhr Remains Obstacle

PARIS, Aug. 23. — France is standing pat upon her reparations demands, it was revealed today when the foreign office officially published the note sent to London last night in reply to the British reparations communication of August 22. It lays all of France's cards upon the table and answers the British document point by point.

For the first time, France officially sets forth 24,000,000,000 gold marks as her minimum demand from Germany, plus sufficient credits from class C reparations bonds to pay any war debts claimed by France's allies.

The note reiterated that France will not enter into negotiations with Germany until passive resistance ceases in the Ruhr and will not accept an international commission of experts to fix Germany's capacity for payment.

Willingness was expressed, however, to discuss debatable questions with Great Britain and the other allies.

No mention is made of immediate settlement of the debt question. France claims Germany is spending more money in resistance in the Ruhr than she would spend in meeting her just financial obligations.

The note refutes England's condemnation of Ruhr occupation as illegal.

It is impossible definitely to evaluate Germany's future capacity to pay as well as her present capacity, the document contends, because today it is as low as possible and present evaluation would only work to Germany's profit in the future.

The note avers that France has destroyed nothing in the Ruhr and that Germany's production capacity is stronger than ever. It is claimed that Germany's resistance alone is responsible for Europe's financial and economic condition.

France promises modification of Ruhr occupation policy, but only after cessation of passive resistance. The French, however, reiterated their refusal to evacuate the Ruhr until Germany pays up.

Denial is again made that France has any desire to annex German territory.

ADMITS OFFICERS TRICK CRIMINALS

Judge Concedes It Is Bad Morally But Alright in Eyes of Law

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—Tacit admission that trickery is sometimes resorted to by officers of the law to obtain evidence was made recently by Federal Judge Dickinson in the United States District Court here during a prohibition case.

Benjamin Golder, counsel for a liquor dealer, sought to quash a search warrant issued against his client's premises by excluding certain evidence he contended was obtained by underhand methods.

"It may be unethical and bad morals" Judge Dickinson said, "but it is not bad law. No one would defend the morals of authorities who put a man in a cell with another in order to beguile him into making a confession, but the practice is permitted and evidence thus secured is used to secure conviction of the defendant. Maybe there is a need for a rule to exclude such evidence, but there is none now."

FARM BUREAU FOOD CLUB AT OHIO FAIR

A food club team representing the Coshocton County Farm Bureau will attend the Ohio State Fair at Columbus next week. The team is composed of Misses Reva Clark and Bessie Fry, of Walhonding and will be chaperoned by Mrs. Chester McMillan, also of that place. Those who attend the state fair from Coshocton co. will doubtless be interested in seeing this team of young girls in demonstration at 9 30 P. M. Eastern Standard time Tuesday, August 28 at the Administration building.

COSHOCTON TEAM TO COMPETE FOR JUDGING HONORS

C. H. Ross, instructor in vocational agriculture in Coshocton high school, will take a class of Coshocton high school boys to Columbus next week to compete in the live stock judging contests that will be held at the Ohio state fair for vocational agriculture students.

Raymond Geib, Dinsmore Finlay, Leonard Cullison and John Lyons will compose the [illegible] team, and Russell Fett, Robert Hamilton, Harold Nelden, Donald Richards, Edward Stewart and Herman Sandel will work in the individual classes. The Coshocton boys will work from 7:30 to 9:30 A. M. Wednesday, August 29 in the Coliseum. Four rings of stock, composed of beef cattle, [illegible] cattle, horses and lard hogs will be judged.

A budget of $1035.00 will be awarded in prizes, $500.00 of which will be given in individual prizes and the remainder in team awards. The winning team in the state will be sent to the International Live Stock Exposition to be held in Chicago in December, where it will compete in the non-collegiate judging contest.

PENNSYLVANIA SOFT COAL MINERS OFFER TO HELP STRIKERS

Say Coolidge's Hope of Substitute Fuel Is Not Justified

PLAN VACATIONS

Representatives Stay At Atlantic City In Hope of Settlement

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug 23.—Miners of the soft coal fields of Pennsylvania today pledged their aid to the hard coal miners in the event the latter go out on strike September 1.

James Marks, vice president of the central Pennsylvania bituminous district accompanied by five aides arrived here this morning and held an extended conference with John L. Lewis, president of the U. M. W. of A.

Marks, it was learned, told Lewis that "President Coolidge would be disappointed if he thot the bituminous miners of the Pennsylvania field will aid in flooding the country with substitutes for anthracite coal."

"The soft coal miners are here on a matter of internal policies, Lewis said. Lewis refused to say what "internal policies" were. He denied the bituminous miners would stage a strike in sympathy with the hard coal miners.

"The bituminous miners have an iron bound contract and the United Mine Workers do not violate their contracts," Lewis said.

A member of Lewis' committee to negotiate a new contract with the anthracite operators stated, however, that Marks had pledged

TALK BANNED IN L. A.'S ELEVATORS

City Adopts Ordinance Which Stops Unnecessary Words While Riding Lifts

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—The ban has now been placed on talking in elevators. A new city ordinance forbidding "unnecessary conversation" in elevators went into effect here August 20.

The passing of the ordinance by the City Council was the result of numerous complaints from business men that there was "too much chewing the rag" going on in downtown elevators.

The non-talking in elevators law is a section to Ordinance No. 15759 of the new city series and reads:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to talk unnecessary conversation with, or in any way to annoy any elevator operator or other person operating any elevator in the city of Los Angeles, or for any such elevator operator to talk unnecessarily to, or to engage in unnecessary conversation with any other person. Provided, however, that nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to the calling of floors of the building in which any such elevator is operated."

This means also that when two persons step into a "lift" they may not chat with each other or with the operator of the car, tight lips are to be the vogue.

The ordinance has been duly approved by Mayor Cryer.

U. S. COAL COMMISSION MAKES LONG REPORT ON ANTHRACITE COAL

WASHINGTON, Aug 23. The United States coal commission today made public a [illegible] word report on the [illegible] of production of anthracite coal, together with numerous charts and tables [illegible] show how increasing labor cost, physical conditions in the [illegible] and general economic conditions have [illegible] to more than double the average price per ton during the past ten years.

The report was prepared for the information and guidance of both the producer and consumer of hard coal but no reference was made to the present coal strike threat.

The commission stated that the cost of labor in the anthracite mines had increased 144 per cent since 1913 but did not attribute all of this increase to advancing wages.

CLIFTON REPLIES TO CHARGES FILED BY CRESAP LEADING TO POSTPONEMENT OF THE HEARING

That the additional charges which E. W. Cresap introduced yesterday afternoon at the hearing of O. B. Clifton, superintendent of the Coshocton schools, were sprung as a surprise in Cresap's alleged threat to "drive Clifton out of town," was revealed by school board members and Mr. Clifton, who today issued a blanket denial of all the charges.

School board members interviewed Thursday were with perhaps one exception, R. N. Barnes, aligned solidly behind Mr. Clifton. Barnes has always been a staunch supporter of Cresap in all school board controversies, Clifton's friends claim.

One member of the board Thursday declared in strong terms that the charges, no intimation of which had been received until the time of the hearing, were the work of a "vindictive and temperamental" man who for strictly personal reasons wished to oust Mr. Clifton. He said that ever since Clifton defeated Cresap four years ago for the superintendency, the latter had borne a grudge, and declared Clifton had "always acted the gentleman" in school controversies whereas Cresap invoked the weapons of a political mud-slinger.

GARY STEEL FORCE LIKES 8-HOUR DAY

Home Life Stunted Hitherto by Long Day and Need for Early Bedtime

GARY, Ind., Aug. 23.—Workers in local steel mills — and their families—hail with joy the gradual abandonment of the 12 hour day in favor of the 8-hour shift.

While the change will not be made all at once, effects of the shorter work period already are manifest here.

Hitherto long hours of daily toil have called for long hours of sleep and a minimum of home life.

Each night now finds many a mother with the children grouped around "Daddy." To many heads of families these evenings are the first in years that permitted them to slip into an easy chair, put slippers on and rest a bit before piling into bed to prepare for "tomorrow."

PACKARD ROADSTER STOLEN THURSDAY AT HEIMAN GARAGE

A Packard roadster owned by Charles Heiman, Chestnut-st, near Fifth-st since January, was stolen from his garage at the rear of his residence early Thursday morning. The lock on the garage door was pried open.

It was said that neighbors heard the motor of a car early Thursday morning and it is the belief it was Mr. Heiman's car.

Before the thieves escaped with the car, they relieved a Chevrolet truck, which was in the same garage, of gasoline. An attempt was made to drain the gas tank of Elizabeth Sawyel's car, which was in a different section of the garage. A wrench was used in removing the gas cap from the Sawyel car but no gas was taken. [illegible] was taken from the Sawyel car.

AUTO REGISTRATION LAW IS FAVORED BY CO. OFFICIALS

Amendment or repeal of the Ohio motor vehicle bill-of-sale law and the enactment of another making the auto sale procedure a part of the registration of motor vehicles under the secretary of state is the recommendation of the Ohio Automotive Trade Association. This suggestion, according to E. J. Shover, general manager of the association, is occasioned by the confusion and inconvenience being reported by clerks of courts, owners, dealers and manufacturers.

It is urged that the new method would come nearer accomplishing the object of the present law and would be free of complicated forms, notaries, witnesses, technicalities and expense. The present application and post card certificates of

FRANCE'S RENEWED PROMISE TO PAY FOUR BILLION DEBT TO AMERICA IS WELCOMED

Rejection of Hughes-Baldwin Proposal for Investigation of Germany's Ability to Pay Reparations Disappoints Washington—Poincare's Statement Leads to Belief That Debt Funding Negotiations May Soon Be Resumed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23. —While disappointed because France steadfastly refuses to accept the Hughes-Baldwin plan for a technical investigation of Germany's ability to pay allied reparations claims, administration officers were considerably cheered today by Premier Poincare's flat announcement that there is to be no repudiation of French war debts.

Altho this information had been brot back to President Coolidge by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who returned from Europe a few days ago, the straight promise as given to the world in the Poincare reply to the British reparations note, has cleared the air of any uncertainties regarding the attitude of the French government towards its $4,000,000,000 debt to the United States.

A resume of the text of the French note reached the state department from the American embassy in Paris and was placed on Secretary of State Hughes' desk this morning.

Copies were also made available to President Coolidge, Secretary Mellon and other officials who are concerned with the formulation of the government's foreign policy and the collection of the billions owed the United States by European nations.

A study of the French position as set forth by Premier Poincare convinced these officials of the accuracy of their belief that France intended to make an effort to liquidate her big debt as soon as the reparations muddle is cleared up but they were not unduly optimistic in view of the opinions of American observers that for the present the reparations problem was deadlocked.

Treasury officials are hopeful, however, that debt funding negotiations between the United States and France may be resumed within a few months.

It was said at the state department today that the largest diplomatic exchanges between France and Great Britain called for no action of the part of this government and that the administration would continue to pursue its policy of hands off.

EUROPEAN NATIONS WILL PAY, BELIEF OF U. S. OFFICIALS

French Cities Booming and Prosperous; Germany Producing

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23. — A basis for adjustment of war debts due the United States by France and smaller European countries will be reached this fall, administration officials have predicted. The government now has a more optimistic view not only of the ability of France and other countries to liquidate their debts but is confident that a way soon will be opened for settlement of the reparations problem. The deadlock over reparations is expected to be broken before winter, and this adjustment, officials believe will clear up most of Europe's financial troubles.

A hopeful forecast of Europe's economic situation is formed from the impressions gathered by government officials of high rank who have just returned from Europe. These views are now before the president and his cabinet. They provide foundation for the administration's confidence that European debtors will pay the United States in full. There is strong belief that England and France will reach an understanding that will pave the way to stabilization.

At the treasury department officials said the funding commission has made no plan to resume debt discussions with France or other nations involved until further definite advices from the debtor nations are received. Officials said delay is not an unfavorable factor in the debt situation.

The situation in France reflects speed industrial recovery, observers reported. Many French cities ruined by the war now resemble boom towns of the west in their race to rebuild and get upon a solid industrial footing. France is fully employed and prosperous. Even in Germany the productive capacity is said to be larger than before the war.

ENTERTAINMENT TO BE GIVEN AT THE W. LAFAYETTE HALL

A cast of home talent in West Lafayette will stage an entertainment in the town hall at West Lafayette Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The first half of the program will be recitations and musical numbers by the youngsters, girls of the elocution and expression class and soloists. The second half will consist of a playlet entitled, "Chaw Talk Way."

The proceeds will go toward erasing the deficit for the chautauqua. The last day's chautauqua was held last night in West Lafayette. The chautauqua was splendid this year and it is the plan of the committee to repeat with a similar chautauqua next year.

Mrs. M. T. Moorehead is in charge of the program.

USE OF SUBSTITUTES

organizations in the hope of killing once and for all the strike fever in the anthracite coal trade.

The government estimates that an addition of only ten per cent of the soft coal supply will have to be mined in order to take care of nearly all the anthracite coal needs of the country. This is taking in to consideration of course the fact that many people already have large supplies of hard coal in their cellars. Also it takes into account the existence of a plentiful amount of soft coal in excess of the ordinary needs of the industries using soft coal.

Should the use of substitutes be gin on a large scale the anthracite miners and operators will not dare to permit the strike to continue very long or else they will face a diminished market on the one hand or the inevitable necessity next year of bringing their prices down to persuade the people who have been using the cheaper substitutes to go back to the more expensive hard coal.

Altogther there is a calmness in official Washington with respect to the coming anthracite strike which the miners and operators of hard coal probably never have expected. Few people have realized until to day the immense preparations which have been made for many months to meet the anthracite strike, advance information about which seems to have been generally distributed. Naturally the parties to the anthracite strike are skeptical about the use of substitutes. They think people will not bother with them and that the substitutes will be found more expensive in the end. But the government rather has the feeling that while prejudices against substitutes may exist, they will be found to be without foundation when the consumers actually begin using them. It is the after effects of such use that officials are talking about with the hope of showing the anthracite miners and operators that they may find themselves up against a crisis in their marketing conditions a year hence if they force an irritated public to burn soft coal.

For one thing the transportation question will not be a factor this year as it was last summer. The government expects to see all available fuel moved promptly. And if the truth were known the inside opinion here is that neither operators nor miners will let the strike, if it happens, last very long.

Operators and Miners Blame Each Other For Causing the Deadlock

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 23—The door to a resumption of the twice deadlocked coal conference remained open today.

While John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, reiterated that "all was off" as a result of the breaking up of yesterday's conference, Samuel D. Warriner, chairman of the operators' committee took the position that the break was only a recess.

Lewis promised the operators "the threshing of their lives in a strike." The operators of this morning had not given up hope of resumptions of the negotiations. They refused the miners' demands for a 20 percent increase for contract work and $2 increase for day labor.

Warriner would not comment upon the possibility of the operators making any request for further conferences.

Lewis and Warriner disagree as to what actually brot the break.

"It was a plain question of wages—Warriner said he could not and would not give the miners more money," Lewis said. "There was no sense in going on."

"Arbitration, the operators plea that wages, checkoff and all other demands made by the miners should be submitted to arbitration. The miners refused. That's the true story of the break off," Warriner said.

Lewis' comment on this statement was that the miners have lost confidence in arbitration.

"We will not arbitrate," he said "and if a new contract is not signed by midnight, August 31, all work will stop in the anthracite field."

Warriner declared that as long as there was a hope of resuming the conference the operators would be on hand. The miners' delegates are remaining.

In spite of the apparent seriousness of the situation, and that outwardly, it appears a certainty that the completion of a new agreement by September 1, is impossible, the leaders of the miners do not expect a strike.

They do not believe for one thing that President Coolidge will permit a strike to take place. If a strike does occur, however, they are prepared, they say, to meet it. They give the impression they have utmost confidence in such event of scoring a victory for the men.

Nothing, it was said, "will deter a 100 percent of anthracite miners should a strike become necessary."

It was asserted further that drastic action by Attorney General Daugherty would be the thing more than any other, which would align the entire organized labor movement solidly with the miners' cause.

Convenience in reading with little chance for error is claimed for a new clock with but one hand, figures for the minutes appearing between the hour marks.

PENNSY SOFT COAL

his word "the miners of the soft coal fields in Pennsylvania would go vacationing," in the event of a hard coal strike.

Representatives of the miners and the operators privately agreed today to wait another 24 hours before leaving Atlantic City, where on Tuesday their joint conference, called in the hope of averting a strike in the anthracite fields on September 1, ended in a deadlock.

The wait of another day was for the purpose, it was understood, of giving the federal coal commission opportunity to take some action to bring about a resumption of negotiations—such as the issuance of formal requests that the warring factions make one more attempt to reach an agreement. Neither the miners or operators made any effort to get together, however. Outwardly both sides maintained an attitude of indifference as to what action the government might take.

John L. Lewis was frank in his statements. He said "The miners do not want the government to intervene in our differences with the operators. Our problem is with the operators, not with the coal commission or with President Coolidge."

Samuel D. Warriner, spokesman for the operators, maintained his hopeful attitude. "We still hope for a settlement," he said. "We will asrept any recommendation the government may make, so long as it is within reason."

James Gorman, neutral secretary of the joint conference said this morning that he had received no word from the coal commission.

"I cannot do anything to bring the groups together until I have received instructions from either the president or the coal commission," Gorman said.

The operators and miners both hope something will happen that will make it possible for them to go back, without loss of dignity, into joint conference. Lewis was reported to have said in a private conference with other union officials that the operators were only "throwing a camouflage on the wage question—they will eventually grant the wage increases, and they know it."

TAGGING THE BASES

Ken Williams smote his twenty-third home run of the season and the Browns beat the Red Sox twice, 8 to 7 and 6 to 1.

After Burston had fanned six men, three of them on nine pitched balls in the twelfth inning, Miller's single, his steal of second and Welch's safety gave the Athletics a 3 to 2 victory over the White Sox in the thirteenth.

A five run rally in the sixth gave the Tigers a 6 to 3 decision over the Yanks, Johnson and Bush having engaged in a strong arm duel up to this untoward moment.

Inspired by a trpile play in the fifth, the Senators proceeded to take a fall out of Edwards and Boone ,to say nothing of the Indians in toto, 8 to 5.

AUTOISTS WARNED OF ROAD SCHEMES

Millions Mulcted from Public, Says National Motorists' Association

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18. — Fly-by-night road development schemes are mulcting thousands of dollars yearly from motorists, hotel men and garage owners, the National Motorists' Association announced today in starting a campaign to end this "pernicious form of graft."

The cause of good roads, the Association stated, has many warm supporters thruout the country and warns them to be less gullible in subscribing moneys to fanciful road schemes unless the organizations have been known to actually accomplish material assistance in road development.

Trading upon the established reputations made by legitimate automobile associations, these fake organizations, operating under the various names of "Automobile Association," "Touring," "Service" and "Trail Association," run the gamut of promises which prove to be just that and nothing more, the association pointed out

Dues in these fly-by-night organizations are often as high as $40, and hotel and garage owners have been known to pay $15 for signs bearing the organization's emblem.

NEW BANK BUILDING AT CLEVELAND OPENS

CLEVELAND, Aug. 23 — Cleveland's new federal erserve bank building, erected at a cost of $8,230. 000, and declared by Deputy Gov. M. J. Fleming to be, considering its cost, the finest federal reserve bank building in the country, was thrown open to the public for inspection today. The bank will move from its rooms in the Williamson building to its new home Monday. Thousands of Clevelanders and a number of out of town bankers inspected the building during the day.

In addition t oall safeguards dictated by experience, three machine guns, manned by three guards, have been placed at strategic points commanding the streets to aid in warding off any attack upon the bank's funds. Thirty nine guards, working in three shifts of eight hours each will be employed to guard the bank's funds.

At times as much as $600,000,000 in gold, in addition to other funds, will be in the massive vaults of the bank.

FRAT. LEAGUE BRIEFS

(By S. J. CARDWELL)

Fraternal League fans are showing a lively interest in the race for second place in that league. The steady gains of the American Legion team has upset all the "dope" and at the present with only four more games to play only one team has been eliminated.

The Moose can not finish second but if they win their game with the K. P.s, and the Odd Fellows lose both they will climb out of the cellar position. The Knights must win both of their games in order to have second place "cinched." If they lose one and win one and the American Legion wins their game with the Odd Fellows, they will tie for second place. By winning both games and the Knights losing two, the Odd Fellows can tie for second place.

Of the four games to be played, two will be of special interest as both are the deciding games in the series between the opposing teams. The K. P.'s and Red Men have played three games, each winning one; while the third game went eight innings to a tie, neither side scoring.

The American Legion and Odd Fellows have also clashed on three occasions, both teams receiving credit for one victory and being charged with one defeat the third game being called on account of darkness. These teams meet again on Friday evening and this game will not only decide the series between these two clubs but will no doubt be the deciding factor in the struggle for second place.

Many motorists who have always insisted on the best in everything they buy, have discarded their heavy, bulky, high-priced cars and have replaced them with the Studebaker Big-Six.

And they report that, in every way, it represents precisely their conception of what a really fine motor car should be.

They are enthusiastic over their all-round satisfaction with the Big-Six because of its dependability, surplus power, extreme comfort for seven passengers, the completeness of its equipment and its fine appearance.

The series 24 model—the finest Big-Six Studebaker ever built—presents a value unapproached by other cars at anywhere near the price. And its nominal cost of operation is a source of continual satisfaction.

Everything for which one can wish in motoring convenience, comfort and utility has been provided—even to an extra disc wheel complete with tire, tube and tire cover; handsome nickel-plated bumpers, front and rear; automatic gasoline signal mounted on instrument board, and many other features.

The low price of the Big-Six is due to large volume, the fact that Studebaker overhead is shared by three models, the manufacture of all vital parts in Studebaker plants and Studebaker's vast physical and financial resources.

After 71 years of service, the name Studebaker enjoys confidence and respect more than ever.

POWER COMFORT

Control of Government by Easterners Incite Republicans to Revolt

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHISON

WASHINGTON, Aug 23 — A Republican revolt against the far sweeping rule of New England's elder statesmet, was brewing today among party leaders in the capital.

With the presidency, the senate speakership, the house speakership, a cabinet portfolio and many other high government posts all held by New Englanders, Republican leaders from other sections were preparing a demand for greater recognition

The revolt undoubtedly will be centered on winning laurels away from the New England "elder statesmen" in the next congress Republican chieftains from the middle west and the far west also seek to block the appointment of any additional "down easterners" to either possible cabinet or high diplomatic posts. They want these posts for the west

Counting Lodge and Coolidge and Frederick H. Gillett, speaker of the house, all from Massachusetts, the political power of the New England representatives is unlimited. Lodge is as powerful in the senate as Gillett is in the house. Secretary Weeks is also from the Back Bay state

In the senate the New England "elder statesmen" numbering only eight men hold the chairmanships of seven committees, five of them very important The chairmanships are held by Lodge, of Massachusetts on the foreign relations committee, McLean, of Connecticut on the banking and currency committee, Colt of Rhode Island on the immigration committee, Brandegee, of Connecticut on the judiciary committee, Hale, of Maine, on the naval affairs committee, Fernald, of Maine on the public buildings committee and Moses, of New Hampshire on the printing committee

As the senate has only about 30 committees all told, western and seaboard statesmen are contending too much power is centered in New England's delegation. They point further to the fact that the elder statesmen had two or more of their number on fourteen committees last session, including the powerful foreign relations, finance, judiciary and appropriation committees.

In the house Speaker Gillett rules with an iron hand, but three big committee chairmanships are held by New Englands. These are—

Education committee, by Representative Dallinger, of Massachusetts, Merchant Marine committee, by Representative Greene, of Massachusetts and Interstate and foreign commerce committee by Representative Winslow, of Massachusetts. Scores of New England congressmen hold high posts on other important committees.

Western Republican chieftains will concentrate their revolt on forcing several of the New England leaders to step aside for the good of the party. They hope particularly to elect one of their own number as Republican leader of the next senate to succeed Lodge. To be successful, however, they must obtain Lodge's consent, for the Massachusetts senator has enough political strength to overthrow all assaults.

NEW BULGAR RULE LED BY PROFESSORS

"Intelligentsia" Who Routed Stambolisky Is Now Supreme

SOFIA, Aug 23—A government of professors has replaced the government of farmers which ruled in Bulgaria until the fall of the Stambolisky regime In fact it was a group of professors that brought about the downfall of Alexander Stambolisky, the peasant Premier

Stambolisky was one of the bitterest enemics of the Bulgarian educational system He regarded professors and students as enemies and was outspoken in condemnation of their influence in national life

About a year ago Stambolisky, by decree, closed the University of Sofia and banished its teachers and students, declaring that the country had no need of them Unexpectedly, however, Stambolisky found his decree opposed by the peasants, who, in most instances, were his staunchest supporters Many of the students were sons of peasants, and they objected to the closing of the university Stambolisky was forced to rescind his decree This was the first defeat of his career as Premier

The defeat left Stambolisky more bitter than ever toward the university men. He frequently threatened to replace the "bourfeois" university, as he styled it, with an agrarian institution of higher learning

It was the University of Sofia that first took a stand against the agrarian government, and Professor Tsankoff the present Premier, who led the movement for Stambolisky's overthrow, was the most active leader in opposition The university men strongly condemned Stambolisky's alleged suppression of academic and journalistic freedom

Originally Stambolisky and Tcankoff were colleagues and members of the Peasant Union Tsankoff, however, withdrew from this movement because of his objection to its policies and founded the National Union, in which he drew about him his colleagues in the law department of the University of Sofia Stambolisky and Tsankoff then became fervid enemies, and eventually it was the activities of the National Union that resulted in the overthrow of Stambolisky and the accession to power of Premier Tsankoff

Since the new Government took office many of the draconian measures enforced by Stambolisky have been repealed. Restrictions that were placed upon the universities and upon the press have been removed. Freedom of thought and speech, ever a cardinal precept of the National Unionists exists to a greater degree under the Tsankoff Government than during the regime of his predecessor

Fighting The Amusement Tax

THE convention of motion picture theater owners at Atlantic City concluded its session with the announcement that "the most vigorous drive in the history of the theatrical business" will be made next year for the elimination of the 10 percent tax on amusements. As the last of the "nuisance taxes" remaining of those adopted as war measures it will be fought thru the personal influence of theatre owners with Congressmen.

It is an irksome tax, no doubt, as most taxes are. In 1922 it yielded $73,384,956, as against $89,730,833 the year before. As a basis for comparisons as to degrees of irksomeness the current French income tax figures show that last year the tax on amusements in France, which varies from 7 to 25 percent, yielded 226,000,000 francs. Considering the difference in population and national wealth and the greater expenditure for amusements in this country, are American theater owners as burdened by amusement taxes as are the French, with their stiffer rate on the better grades of shows?

Disordered Conscience

THE community conscience would be a much simpler thing if it were not so inextricably intermingled with the normal human desire to pry into other people's affairs. It is a confusion which appears to have led the South at the moment into a more than usually violent outbreak of floggings, martial law and somewhat excited declamations by leading citizens—a confusion which one perceives to have been carried to an extraordinary point when one finds the Ku Klux Klan of Oklahoma promising to hire their own private detectives in order to track down the floggers and thus maintain "law and order" in spite of themselves.

It would probably be exceedingly difficult to explain to the Grand Dragon of the Oklahoma Klan that by hiring his own private detectives he would not be assisting in the least toward the maintenance of the ordinary forms of order thru constituted government, and that by setting out himself to suppress floggers he would be putting the law into an even more precarious position than it now seems to occupy. The self-appointed upholder of public morals thru violence, whether he is the lyncher or the man who wants to lynch the lyncher, can never quite understand that he is committing a crime, because in all such joyous endeavors to regulate other people's affairs by direct physical interference there is an element of the communal conscience working in a disorded way toward a muddled social end.

Most Northern States have succeeded in making the popular execution of "justice" a crime; which of course means a great deal more than that they have called it a crime on the statute books. They have made it one—a remarkable achievement, because the act generally begins as at least in part an act of righteousness. The South, thru causes embedded in the history of its people, has found considerably more difficulty in drawing the clear line, and the confusion of ideas which clouds the situation in Macon and Tulsa at the moment is evidence of a real struggle to work out a moral as well as a practical problem.

The Washington Elm

THE WASHINGTON ELM, in Cambridge, Massachusetts, is dead. For the past several years it had been slowly dying, unable to withstand the persistent attacks of insects, altho Cambridge has done everything in its power to keep it alive. The city a few years ago realized it was doomed. A shoot was transplanted, but the old elm under which Washington took command of America's first armies is itself no more.

The elm tree has held a strong place in the history of America. It has become a sort of national tree, unofficially, both because it has figured so prominently in the great historic events of the country and because its kind has become peculiarly the American tree. And it has earned its place. There are few trees as beautiful. A giant, spreading out from a huge gnarled trunk, its heavy branches arched under the weight of their thick green foliage, the elm has worked its way into the nation's heart in a consistent, natural way.

Perhaps we have learned to love the elm more because of the stories it has helped to make for us. Perhaps we loved the Washington Elm as much because we knew it helped to make the country as because of its beauty. Things which nature has made beautiful and man has made important are things to be loved. So America has given to the elm a place apart among trees. We admire the great redwood, we glory in our high stacked pines, but we stand steadfast for our great love, the elm.

And we have famous ones. The Wethersfield elm in Connecticut: the Seneca council tree in Kanandesaga, N. Y., where the Six Nations actually died; the Fort Howard elm in Wisconsin, where the first fortification of the State was built; New Haven's Franklin elm, together with the hundred others of lesser repute in that City of Elms; the Oberlin elm, marking the first loghouse in Ohio; the Frye elm of Andover, Massachusetts—these are but a few of the famous old elms among which the Washington Elm was a leader in fame.

There are many great elms left. More are growing. The elms which have been loved in America will still remain a part of the national life. But the passing of such a landmark as the Washington Elm leaves a deep hole in the historic lore of the country. America really started in the shade of its branches, which no longer will hang over the granite stone Cambridge placed at its trunk to tell the curious its history.

WOMEN FROM FORTY TO FIFTY

Will Be Interested in Mrs. Hooker's Recovery by Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I was going through the Change of Life and suffered from a run-down condition and the troubles a woman has to go through at that time, hot flashes, nervousness and headaches. At times I was not able to do my work, but since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I am gaining every day and can do my work with more ease than I have for five or six years. I owe it all to your great medicine."—MARTHA HOOKER, 114 College Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

When women who are between the ages of forty-five and fifty-five are beset with such annoying symptoms as nervousness, irritability, melancholia and heat flashes, which produce headaches, dizziness, or a sense of suffocation, they should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It is prepared from roots and herbs and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts, for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book for Women.

that makes the life of circus folk so happy. Most of them are whimsical romanticists unmindful of the tomorrows.

Being Scotch, an inverse ratio reasoning warns me to profligacy. The vaudeville performer who lives up to his last penny during the winter and arrives at the summer hiatus with a smile and cheerio wins my profound kow-two. I'd like to be free from worry about tomorrows.

There are hundreds of them now sunning themselves along Broadway curbs. They breakfast on "coffee and sinkers" and a few cut their own hair in skylight hall rooms but they bugle their faith in the future. The world is their oyster.

They might not have the price of an evening dinner but just the same they are spurning huge offers from Dave, Lee, Jake and Flo. They will go far for friends.

The world at large knew little of Morris Rosenfeld, the East Side bard of the sweatshops and tenements. But when he passed away the East Side mourned as one and followed him in tears to his grave. He told in elegiacs of the intolerable conditions. In his lyrics he wove the poignant tragedy of his own life. He knew the pale-faced men of the sweatshops who spent entire lives sewing and sewing and his heart overflowed with sympathy for them

Humor is at low tide in New York theatres. Comedians are resorting to puerile smut. They do not mince. They let go with both barrels. Some of the wheezes of the musical revues are more than Rabelaisan gags. They are simply unprintable. Gallagher and Shean, trick comics suddenly elevated, are singing doggerel that would bring blushes in honky-tonks. The estimable Eddie Cantor is not far behind. All of these men are clever and funny and have no need to dip into the gutters. Another excuse for the suggestive is the "tableaux." In one, skimpy brassieres are the only covering for nudes and in another four press agented beauties are entirely nude save for a single whisp of tulle. The vice crusaders appear to be on a vacation.

The Bronx Zoo now has a wandering iguana. The iguana looks like a lizard and is always wanting to go somewhere. It needs a keeper to keep it from crawling over the wall on its way back to the Galapagos Islands from whence it came. Only a sap like the iguana would want to go to the Galapagos.

There are 210 rooming houses in two blocks in Washington Heights. They are the old fashion. I kind where all the food is put on tables at meal time. It is the last stand of the 'star boarder.'

RUB RHEUMATIC PAIN FROM ACHING JOINTS

Stop "dosing" rheumatism.

It's pain only. St. Jacobs Oil will stop any pain, and not one rheumatism case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating St. Jacobs Oil right on the tender spot, and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain and distress. St. Jacobs Oil is a harmless rheumatism liniment which never disappoints, and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones, stops sciatica, lumbago, backache and neuralgia.

Limber up! Get a small trial bottle of old time, honest St. Jacobs Oil from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

BREAK CHEST COLDS WITH RED PEPPER

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up the congestion. Feel a bad cold loosen up in just a short time.

"Red Pepper Rub" is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the congested spot is warmed through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known. Always say "Rowles."

GASOLINE A DIME IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 23.—Gasoline sold for ten cents a gallon in Los Angeles today. The sign was displayed at several filling stations. Motorists lined up in double columns to fill their fuel tanks.

For some time motorists have been able to secure gasoline as low as 13 cents a gallon in the oil field districts and 14 cents a gallon is a common price paid in Los Angeles proper.

The "Big Four" comprised of the Standard, Union, Shell and Ventura companies continued today to sell for 17 cents or 15 cents to coupon book holders and refused to say whether they would slash the price. The independent dealers say they are selling at a low price because of an overstocked market.

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With Othine—Double Strength

This preparation for the treatment of freckles is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of Othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

TWO MARINE FLYERS KILLED WHEN PLANE PLUNGES TO EARTH

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 23.—Two marine officers were instantly killed and another probably fatally injured here today when two planes in which they were flying collided at an altitude of approximately 3,200 feet, and plunged to the ground. The machines were at combat maneuvers when the crash came.

The dead: Lieut. Cornelius McFadden, pilot of the United States marine corps whose home is in Philadelphia, and Capt. G. F. Hill, of Leonminister, Mass.

Lieut. Menton A. Richel of the marine corps was injured. He was the sole occupant of one of the planes.

Bodies of the dead were horribly mutilated and crushed after the plunge of more than one-half mile.

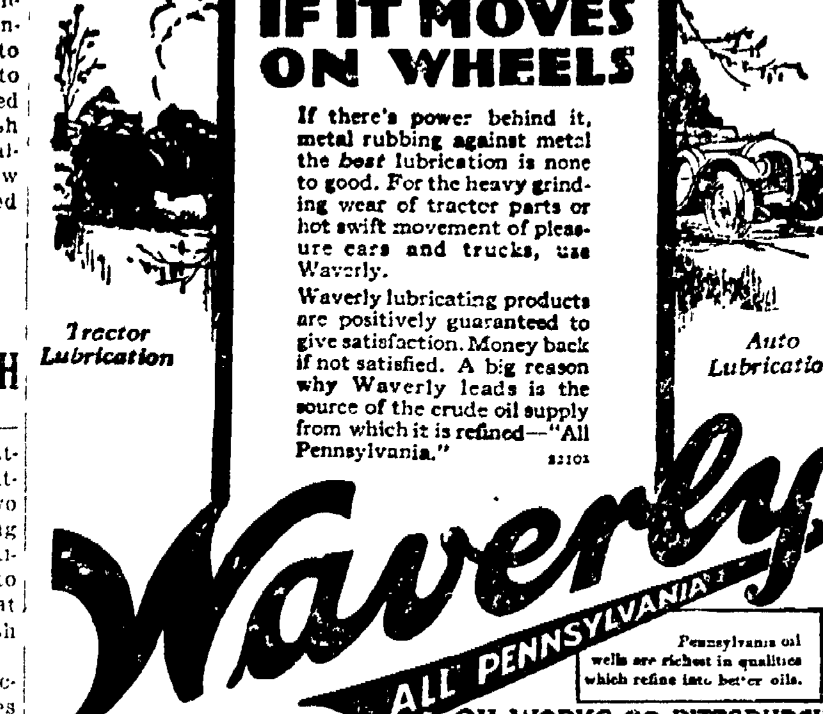

That instant death did come to Richel is considered miraculous by officers, who witnessed the fall.

The installation of an electrically operated signal system on the Swiss government railways is said to be the first for that class of service in Europe.

WALT MASON

AUGUST

No poet is incited to sing in August's praise, for all the bards are blighted by sizzling solar rays; they find their graft disgusting since summer heat prevailed; their lyres are silent, rusting, their wreaths are draggle-tailed. Ah, well I can remember great poets in my day, who boosted bleak December and threw a fit for May; and is there any singer whose harp is not in tune to celebrate the bringer of roses, gentle June? And even sad October, with dead leaves falling down, and heavens gray and sober, has gained her rhymed renown. But August has no merit except her priceless heat; the poets grin and bear it, but don't sing sonnets sweet. If August has her boosters we do not hear them yell; they do not crow like roosters or men with stocks to sell. They're sensitive and shrinking, they shun the light of day, like spectres they go slinking on their unlighted way. In August we remember that in three weeks or four we'll wallow in September, a month all bards adore. So August has her uses, altho with heat unkind she dries up all the juices of body and of mind; she brings to recollection the month that will succeed, to heal our souls' dejection, and that's a boon indeed.

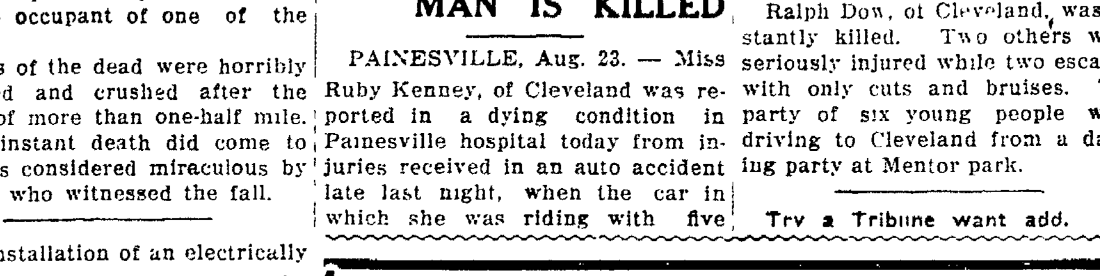

AUTO HITS BRIDGE, MAN IS KILLED

PAINESVILLE, Aug. 23.—Miss Ruby Kenney, of Cleveland was reported in a dying condition in Painesville hospital today from injuries received in an auto accident late last night, when the car in which she was riding with five companions crashed into a steel bridge near Willoughby.

Ralph Dow, of Cleveland, was instantly killed. Two others were seriously injured while two escaped with only cuts and bruises. The party of six young people were driving to Cleveland from a dancing party at Mentor park.

BRITAIN STILL HAS ABSURD WAR LAWS

LONDON, Aug 23—War regulations, now become farcical, still largely exist in Britain

After 9 30 in the evening it is illegal to sell strawberries and cream, but it is perfectly legal to sell strawberries and ice cream.

It is unlawful to sell cigarettes or tobacco after 8 p m, but a saloon keeper can legally sell either if he serves a meal at the same time At the same time, if he should sell a biscuit with a glass of wine he is committing an offence

A restaurant may lawfully serve a cooked sausage up to any time, but to hand over an uncooked sausage would be a breach of regulations.

After 9 30 a shopkeeper can sell all the soft drinks and ice cream he likes, so long as they are consumed on the premises, but if he sells them to be taken away he is committing a crime

Members of Parliament are agitating to have these absurdities swept away.

Your Physical Manhood Can Be Quickly Revived!

When you overtax your nerve energy and neglect to nourish your system—When you consume more vitality than you replace—You invite a breakdown. You lose the vigorous health and virile manhood that make life a constant delight You haven't the strength and energy to go through a hard day's work with enough vigor and "pep" left over to enjoy evenings with the family

DELAYED WEDDING SPEEDS FORTUNE

Oklahoma Heiress Profits by Awaiting Propitious Date to Marry Second Time

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug 23 — Fortune smiles today upon Mrs Lottie Taylor, of this city, who is heiress to a small fortune and is engaged to the man "who loves me for myself alone"

L W Harral, a Perkins, Okla grocer, only a few days ago asked Mrs. Taylor for her heart and hand She had no money and had never dreamed she would have any considerable amount Instead of marrying at once, however, they decided they would wait until Mrs Taylor could dispose of her rooming house and then move to Perkins

The delay was fortunate

Just a few days later came word from Shreveport La, telling of a $65,000 estate willed to Mrs Taylor and her two children—Reece, aged 14, and Hattie Mae, 11, by her father, who had made the fortune in oil unknown to her

Wills sometimes have queer provisions, and this one was no exception.

It stipulated that Mrs Taylor, who had been a widow for 10 years would receive $35,000 of the estate. In case of remarriage prior to the death of her father, however, the $35,000 would not be forthcoming until Reece, the son, had reached the age of 18—four more years

'Of course, I'm glad the money was bequeathed to me and I'm glad I'm engaged to Mr Harral —he's such a good man—but we're going to wait now until the details are all straightened out in the probate court, Mrs Taylor declares.

SECOND COMING AT HAND, SAYS WRITER

LONDON, Aug. 23—The second coming of Christ is at hand, according to Miss Christabel Pankhurst

The conversion of Miss Pankhurst of this belief began in 1918 with a "chance discovery in a bookshop," she declares in her new book, "The Lord Cometh"

"There has been in the past," Miss Pankhurst writes, "a difference of opinion among Christians as to whether the Lord Jesus Christ would make his promised second visible appearance to mankind at the beginning or at the end of the millenium, but in the new light cast by the remarkable world developments that have arisen since 1914 it is now unmistakably certain that He will come to initiate the millenium

'The signs of the times are witnessing unmistakably to the truth that He is coming and coming soon. It is awe inspiring to watch current history fitting into the very mold of prophecy. Christ has been expected before, but He did not come, you say. That may be, but this time He is coming'

Will Continue Unabated Rest of Year, Says Buiding Inspector Report

LOS ANGELES, Aug 23 Predicting a heavy increase in the unprecedented building and construction program now under way here will continue thruout the year unabated, Roy L Balaam chief clerk of the city building inspector's office, has announced that during the year to date building permits have been issued for a total valuation of $102,000,000 He also predicted that before August 15 the $121,000,000 mark would be reached

'The tremendous building program in Los Angeles is gaining headway rather than showing any signs of slowing up' said Balaam 'The construction program is undoubtedly the soundest possible indication of the prosperity of Los Angeles and the confidence which the people who live here enjoy in their city

"Without a doubt the tremendous building trades activity in this city is without parallel in the history of any metropolitan city of the United States"

Balaam said that without a doubt Los Angeles will pass the $200,000 000 mark in its 1923 building activity, a prediction which was scouted at the beginning of the year

Cow hides and calf skins are converted into shoe leather by a process called tanning. This process preserves the natural oil and toughens the hide. The wear in your shoes depends upon it

Good tanning means long wear

School shoes with more wear

HERE'S the big shoe news of the year—Endicott-Johnson have developed a new leather toughening process which makes E-J Boys' and Girls' Shoes wear much longer. Think what a saving that means on shoe bills!

Leather is toughened in tanning. That's when real wear is built in, and Endicott-Johnson are the World's Greatest Tanners and Shoemakers. Skilled in the art, they tan over 3,000,000 skins a year, turning them into dependable, long wearing leather. The new process is their latest invention.

School days are almost here. Get ready for them. In the E-J line you will find every size and style, for boys and girls. Each has the same E-J four way value—wear, comfort, style and economy. Be sure to see them. They will save you money.

"Made with Smiles"
More than 32 million pairs of shoes are made yearly by 17,000 happy and contented E-J workers.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse, and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.

BRITISH FIND A NUMBER OF SNAGS IN FRENCH NOTE

LONDON, Aug. 23—British officials today began a study of the French reparations note under a cloud of secrecy. Great Britain's attitude towards the document will not be made known officially until Premier Baldwin and Foreign Secretary Lord Curzon have thoroly digested it.

While it is known that France has not backed down from her original viewpoint, many newspapers expressed belief that the communication paves the way for further negotiations Some papers, notably the Daily Express were slightly critical. The Daily Express printed a cartoon of Premiers Baldwin and Poincare exchanging endless notes, with the caption: "How long is this going on?"

The communication is very lengthy and divided into two parts, namely, the note proper and the explanatory covering letter.

France argued in justification of her reparations act claiming that such pressure is necessary to obtail lawful payment of the German debt. Premier Baldwin's recent attack against Ruhr occupation was refuted. Finally, France went into a lengthy review of her reparations viewpoint

Despite the silence of officials, it is learned that the French note is regarded as containing many snags and difficulties First is France's refusal to recognize a committee of inquiry to fix Germany's capacity for payment.

It is feared also that the French proposals do not allow England a sufficient sum to pay her debt to the United States. The note suggests that France pay her debts to Great Britain and America in class "C" bonds but the British claim the bonds are practically worthless France estimates she must have immediately from Germany 50,000,000,000 gold marks but the British regard such a request as impossible.

Another feature displeasing to the British is the intimation that France wants to draw out the negotiations The cabinet desires to have the problem settled at once. Premier Baldwin may defer his proposed vacation trip to the continent in order to consult his colleagues

The Evening Standard declared that Premier Poincare "now has abandoned his rigidity It shows that France is desirous of continuing the Anglo-French entente."

The Star commented "France does not give up a single centime Hers are all minor concessions"

GIRLS! LEMONS BLEACH OUT TAN AND FRECKLES

Mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well in a bottle and you have a whole quarter pint of the most wonderful skin softener and complexion beautifier. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon cream into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then note the [illegible] and whiteness of skin.

Famous stage beauties use this harmless lemon cream to bring that velvety clear, rosy white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

BUSHNELL REFUSED RIGHT TO EXAMINE DOLLINGS RECORDS

COLUMBUS Aug. 23 Common Pleas Judge Rogers has turned down the application of John A Bushnell Columbus, who, as chairman of an organization of more than 600 stockholders, asked permission to inspect the records of the R. L. Dollings Co., of Ohio and its subsidiaries it was announced

Officials of the Ohio Crane Ice Cream Co. Columbus, a Dollings subsidiary today asked the Franklin county common pleas court to arrange for an immediate hearing relative to the charges by stockholders of fraud and misrepresentation in the sale of company stock. Denying all charges and stating that the sale of stock was in the hands of the Dollings Co., H. C Moore, president, and Stanley M. Ross, secretary treasurer of the ice cream company, declared that prevailing conditions are proving embarrassing to the concern. They expressed belief that speedy settlement of the case would be for the best interests of the stockholders.

DAILY NEWS LETTER

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers At Home and Abroad

BY EDNA LEE BOOKER

SHANGHAI, Aug. 23—Smothering heat and drought, dread forerunners of famine and cholera, have settled over China, causing thousands of suffering people to pray to the gods for rain.

Recently while visiting friends in an interior city where there was no rain for weeks and where cholera claimed many victims, I rode to the City Temple, where hundreds were worshipping at the shrine of the god of wind and rain.

In the narrow mat-roofed streets the stench is terrible. Flies, millions of them, crawled lazily over the fruit in the open stands. They swarmed over the hungry dogs, for once too lifeless to bark at a foreigner. They worried the half naked, half dead beggars in the shade of the City Gate.

The coffin-makers were working night and day.

At last we reached the yellow walled temple on the banks of the stagnant canal. Priests, in brown robes, were selling paper charms to the crowds of listless men and women. The priests declared that the charms would protect them from the merciless hand of the Plague God.

Wrinkled, bent old women were hobbling on their "Golden Lilies" among the gilded and painted idols which lined the walls burning incense, red candles and silver paper spirit money before many of them.

Young wives, with drawn faces; soldiers, in tattered uniforms; pompous merchants, amahs carrying fretful babies, pale-faced scholars, bronzed backed coolies were all waiting their turn to "kow tok" before the gilded Wind God. They were imporling him to drive the Plague God out of the city gates.

At night the wails of the mourners, the beats of the priests' drums, the groans from the thousands of Chinese trying to sleep in the courtyards, doorways, on roofs and streets were terrifying. But more pitiful were the haunting cries of the mothers who were imploring the spirits of their dying children to return.

A few days later the wind and rain came.

There was great rejoicing thruout the city, and I rode again to the temple. The Wind God was given credit for driving out the God of Plague. Garlands of sweet smelling white jade flowers hung around his fat gold neck. Incense burned at his feet, and gayly-colored lanterns, which would be lighted in the evening, festooned the temple grounds. Before the Wind God the grateful living were humbly offering their gifts.

In Tsangchow, Chihli Province, the long drought is causing great anxiety. Two years ago, when this section was facing a similar situation, the priests brot famous rain-producing iron tablets from a northern temple and secured immediate and, in the eyes of the superstitious populace, phenomenal results.

The priests reaped a rich harvest in offerings.

This year, however, the miraculous tablets failed to function. The people are amazed.

Suspician has now fallen on the priest who went after the tablets. On his return trip he stopped in Tienstin over night to attend a theatrical performance. The rain which should have come to Tsangchow fell on that particular night in Tienstin without doubt the rain which was intended for Tsangchow.

The priest who yielded to the allureents of the gay city is a sad man these days.

BOOTLEG RADIO PROFITS EXCEL BOOZE RUNNING

Manufacturers Turn Out Own Vacuum Tubes for Radio

NEW YORK, Aug 23—The "rum runner" and the distiller of "bottled in the barn" is a piker compared to New York's latest dealers in contraband—the "radio bootlegger."

This new species, dealing in vacuum tubes, used in receiving sets, is now operating seven factories in New Jersey, five in Manhattan and four in Brooklyn.

The business is said to be netting a clear profit of well over $1,500,000 a month.

It is estimated that 2,000 "bootleg tubes" a day are being turned out in the New York factories, 3,500 in the New Jersey plants and an additional 1,500 in the Brooklyn establishments.

The Markings of the "standard" and "patented" tubes are followed in every detail, except that the names are painted on the glass of the tube instead of being etched in.

Originally designed to catch New York trade, the "bootlegging" of radio tubes has become such a money maker that the "bootleggers" are said by Government agents who are probing the alleged patent infringements to have formed a "ring" and are now disposing of their families in every radiocenter of the country.

Efforts to have the bootleg factories raided are now being made by the patent right holders, who charge that men of influence, associated with other reliable manufacturing concerns, have allied themselves with "radio bootlegging."

BUCKEYE BREVITIES

Gathered by I. N. S.

LOGAN—Two Logan high school boys, just home from a hiking trip to New York City, report that they did very little walking. They were gone three weeks. They slept in everything from a fence corner to a mansion—all for nothing—and were given rides in cars for every mile of their trip, except 25, they said.

GLOUSTER — A certain "tonic" retailed by many grocers in the Hocking Valley is under the ban of dry officers, acting under orders from state prohibition headquarters. The "tonic" is advertised as being fine for the stomach. It happens to have an 18 per cent alcoholic content dry officials claimed.

COOLVILLE — The first peaches of the 1923 season, produced in the Hocking hills are coming into market. They are Elbertas of good quality. Orchard owners predict a fine crop in some sections.

NELSONVILLE — Tax statistics, gathered in Athens county, show that Athens, the county seat, is paying almost one-fifth of the total taxes on all the personal property returned for taxation purposes. Total valuation on this class of property in Athens county is about $12,000,000.

ATHENS — An agreement has just been entered into by the officials of Ohio University here and officers of the city of Athens whereby critic teachers from the university's training school will be admitted to the city schools as instructors. The change means a big saving to Athens taxpayers, as the university will help pay salaries of teachers.

BUCYRUS — A fiery cross, fully 20 feet high, made of old telegraph poles, was set on fire at the outside of the circus grounds here by members of the local organization of the Ku Klux Klan. The spectacle was witnessed by all who attended the night performance of the circus.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE — Sheriff S. M. Dunfee has announced his intention of filing affidavits with federal authorities seeking deportation of Mike and John Popovich as "undesirable" citizens. These men were shot while resisting arrest by Deputy Sheriff Robert Monroe. It is claimed the Popoviches were intoxicated while driving an automobile. Both are recovering in a hospital.

BUCYRUS—A clever swindle was worked on several local merchants. The day before a circus showed here, a stranger called, in rapid succession, on a dozen business houses, placing contracts for provisions and green groceries for the circus. Incidentally, he requested each merchant to engage a show banner on the elephants in the parade at $7.50 per banner, payment to be made in advance. A number of the merchants paid over the $7.50. They were surprised when the circus arrived and they received no instructions where to deliver the provisions. Their surprise was increased when they did not see their banner on the elephants. The management of the circus said he knew nothing about the stranger nor of his arrangements.

MARTINS FERRY — Fenton Shields, 96, ex-slave, is dead at St. Clairsville. He was born in what then was Virginia, between Harpers Ferry and Charles Town. He was known as "Oold Fenton" to thousands in Belmont county.

ELYRIA—For permitting operation of slot machines, Abraham Manas and E. G. Gariss, poolroom proprietors at Rochester, were fined $50 each. F. J. Barnes, manager of the hotel at Ridgeville, was fined $100 for a second offense of similar nature.

CHILLICOTHE—The total value of public utilities operating in Ross county, as returned by the state tax commission to County Auditor Weaver is $10,073,780 this year, compared with 9,987,580 in 1922. This aggregate valuation constitutes practically one-sixth of Ross county's tax duplicate for this year.

DEFIANCE—Vessels carrying as much frieght as four trains of 100 cars each will be going thru Defiance from Lake Michigan and Lake Erie, if the prediction of former Governor W. L. Harding, Iowa, comes true. Former Governor Harding, who delivered a chautauqua address here, is a leader in the inlnd waterways movement.

YORKVILLE — Two youngsters leaving a local drug store via the rear door, encountered Marshal John Ferguson who took them and $150 worth of flashlights, knives and candy to the lockup.

BYESVILLE—This village claims the highest priced votes in Ohio. At the recent primaries, approximately 25 persons voted, there being only one ticket in the field with no contests. Officials, however, were on duty at six precincts thruout the day. The count was completed in a few minutes after the polls closed. The average price per vote was $15, it is figured by interested persons.

GIRL MEETS DEATH UNDER AUTO TRUCK

CINCINNATI, Aug. 23. — Alice Theis, 13, of Norwood, was killed late yesterday by a motor truck which she failed to see because of another machine passing in the opposite direction on Carthage-av. The driver of the truck Henry Campbell, negro, was held on a manslaughter charge.

EDISON IS WELL

ISHPEMING, Mich., Aug. 23—Thomas Edison today denied reports that he was seriously ill, but said he was enjoying his outing in upper Michigan with Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone. He sprained a finger on his right hand in adjusting the windshield of the party's car, which kept him from shaking hands with the throngs who met the party on arrival.

RAPS AUTO LAW

COLUMBUS, Aug. 23. — Condemnation of the Ohio auto bill of sale law as confusing, complicated, unduly technical and expensive is contained in a statement by E. J. Shover, general manager of the Ohio automotive trade association. Mr. Shover recommends repeal of the law and the passage of another making the auto sale procedure a part of the registration of motor vehicles under the secretary of state.

TOILET WATER AS BEVERAGE IS FATAL

CINCINNATI, Aug. 23. — Police today are seeking relatives of Richard Harry Swivel, 60, telegraph operator and writer, following his death late yesterday, which apparently was caused by drinking toilet water, several empty bottles that had contained such fluids being found in his room.

NEW LEVIATHAN OF AIR MAKES 30-MI. FLIGHT AT DAYTON

DAYTON, Aug. 23 — The great Barling bomber today was rated as the premier of all fighting air craft in the world, following its initial flight of about thirty miles, starting at 6:18 last evening.

The flight of the largest aerial fighting craft in the world was staged at Wilbur Wright field, eight miles from Dayton, under ideal atmospheric conditions, with thousands of people in and near the field to witness the demonstration.

The bomber was just thirteen seconds lifting from the ground when thrown into gear. The big ship never made a bobble. There was no hesitation at any time.

Gradually it began climbing and within a few minutes had gained an altitude of 2,500 feet, as officially announced. It navigated in a great circle with the field as the center. It described a complete circuit taking the turns with an ease and grace that was the wonder of all who saw it.

As the flight neared conclusion the plane lowered precipitately and when down to two thousand feet it began to glide to the earth smoothly and easily. At no time during the flight was there even a sign of wavering.

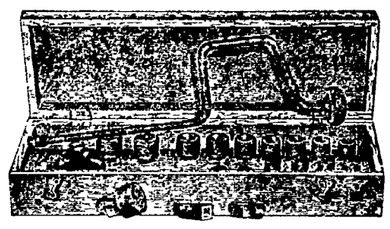

At the takeoff the big ship was making fifty miles an hour. Its speed was increased until the instruments recorded 93 miles an hour. Even then it was stated that less than half the power of which the six Liberty motors are capable was turned on.

The new leviathan of the air is declared by all air service officials and the men who flew it to be a complete success in every particular.

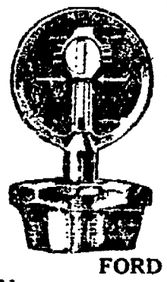

Lieut. Harold R. Harris was the chief pilot. Lieut. Muir S. Fairchild was his assistant. Douglas Culver, civilian, was the engineer. Walter Henry Barling, designer and builder of the ship, was the observer.

MAYOR CAPTURES CONFESSED AUTO THIEVES IN COUPE

William Rush, Athens-co and George Walker, near Zanesville, were held in the Newcomerstown jail Thursday in connection with the theft of a Chevrolet coupe belonging to a man who lives in Parkersburg, W. Va.

Elmer Whiting, of Marietta, a third man, said to be involved in the alleged theft of the car, according to the story told by the men arrested, was not with Rush and Walker when arrested. Whiting is said to be in Canton.

Mayor Banning arrested Rush and Walker Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Newcomerstown after he received word from a man at Kennedy's store at Wolk Station, where the men stopped and exchanged some of the tools in the stolen auto for gas. The message also gave the license number of the car.

When the two men arrived in Newcomerstown, the mayor stopped them and began questioning them. They told him several different tales. Mayor Banning sent the two to the bastile until he could investigate their case.

The mayor immediately put in a long distance call to the secretary of state in Columbus asking him who owned the license numbers on the car that was stolen. The licenses on the stolen car belonged on a Ford couple, owned by William Kramer, of Zanesville. Mayor Banning talked with Kramer, who told the mayor that his number plates and tools were stolen from his car.

Mayor Banning told the prisoners what he had learned and the boys finally confessed and told their story.

Walker said that the coupe was taken from the wharf at Parkersburg on last Sunday night at 10 o'clock. Walker is said to have been with Whiting when the car was stolen. Walker and Whiting drove the car over to Marietta where they picked up Rush, the former said.

The three came to Zanesville in the machine, Whiting driving. Just as they arrived in McConnelsville ,before coming into Zanesville, Sunday night, they decided to get rid of the West Virginia licenses and replace them with Ohio numbers. Here is where they stole the licenses from Kramer's Ford coupe, Walker said. They also relieved the coupe of gas and tools. Then they threw away the West Virginia licenses.

The boys proceeded to Zanesville where they exchanged a spare tire on the rear of the Chevrolet for gas, because they were out of money, they said. They got ten gallons of gas in Zanesville. The three went thru Newcomerstown Monday, on their way to Canton, where Whiting had relatives. In Canton Whiting said he had an uncle that would give them money. Walker and Rush waited for several hours for Whiting to return but he failed to show up.

When Whiting did not show up Walker and Rush decided to return to Parkersburg with the car and give themselves up, according to Walker. Walker drove the car from Canton and from Port Washington over the detour to Wolf where the gas supply was exhausted. When the car was filled with gas the boys paid with tools. After the two had left Wolf, the man at Kennedy's store wired Mayor Banning and gave him the number of the license on the car. When the men arrived in Newcomerstown, the mayor was on the lookout and arrested them.

The owner of the car was expected to arrive in Newcomerstown Thursday to identify his car. The prisoners waived extradition papers and will face auto theft charges in Parkersburg said Mayor Banning.

The mayor does not believe that Rush had anything to do with stealing the car.

DRINK WATER FREELY IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Also Take Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weaher is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids; to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

PORCH PARTY

A delightful porch party and luncheon was given Tuesday night in honor of Miss Lucille Ludman, of Zanesville, by Miss Helen Gefeller, on the porch of the Fountain Hotel Annex. Miss Ludman was Miss Gefeller's house guest.

The event brot together an interesting group of girls, many of whom will be leaving for college in September. Beautiful ferns and bouquets of old fashioned garden flowers adorned the porch.

At 6 o'clock p. m. the delicious three-course luncheon was served at the home of the hostess, which was also artistically arranged with garden bouquets. Tiny mint baskets served as favors to the Misses: Margery Marshall, Cecile Lauber, Cecil Stocker and Margaret Hostetter, of Dover; Etta Taylor, Thelma Nicodemus, Nellie Daniels, Mary R. Smith, Ruth Davis, Mary Barnett, Henrietta Vogenitz, Dorothea Swigert, Macy Mulvane, Mary Hayes, Dorotha Schawb, Margaret Heister, Floride Kistler, Almena Yingling, Jen Eva Raine, Marjorie Maus, Helena Underwood, Alveretta Sheeley,the guest of honor and the hostess.

Good Night Stories

MRS. BLACK ANT AND MRS. CRICKET LEARN SOMETHING.

EVERYBODY in the meadow was glad when morning came. The storm, which had lasted all night, had made the little meadow folk very nervous.

"My, but I'm glad that storm is over," Mrs. Cricket said to Mrs. Black Ant, her neighbor. "I thought the whole place was going to be flooded. Water started to leak down into my storeroom and Daddy Cricket had to rush out and get some mud and moss and stop up the leak. Now if the sun would only come out, things would soon dry off."

"I was just saying to Daddy Ant that old Mr. Sun must have been on a rampage last night, for I haven't seen a sign of him this morning," said her neighbor. "My goodness! I can't sleep mornings. And in that way it gets on my nerves to see anyone else do it."

"Well," sneered Mrs. Cricket, "of course I don't want it said that I made the remark, but I always did think that Mr. Sun was a lazy, good-for-nothing fellow. Now, after that terrible rain, he should be up shining his very brightest to help dry things off. I wanted to go off on a trip this morning. But how would I look trailing through the wet grass? No, indeed, I don't care for water except to drink it."

"It seems to me," agreed Mrs. Black Ant, "that something should be done about Mr. Sun. He never is on the job as he should be, any more. Maybe he's ill."

"Hum!" grumbled Mrs. Cricket. "Ill, nothing! Why, he hung around that hilltop so long night before last, that I was just going to complain when Willy Lightning did it for me. But what good did his complaint do? None at all. Old Mr. Sun stayed on that hill until he got ready to go to bed. Yesterday morning he wasn't up nearly as early as he should have been. And now to-day—goodness! I despise laziness."

"Well, I don't know," drawled another voice, and old Granddad Hop-Toad hopped around the bush and joined his neighbors. "If he came out now, his heat would soon shrivel everything up in the gardens. He's not a bad sort of a fellow, after you've known him as long as I have. I guess he knows his business as well as any of us do. You'd all very likely be the first to complain if he did come out. Why, he'd scorch things right up. Give the water time to soak into the ground, then the plants can enjoy it. You know it takes all kinds of weather to make a world and all kinds of folks to fill it, too." And away he hopped toward the garden.

"I believe he's right," laughed Mrs. Cricket. "I never thought of it in that way. The sun's heat would hurt things."

"Yes," drawled Mrs. Black Ant. "Grandad Hop-Toad knows what he's talking about. And if it takes all kinds of folks to make a world, I'll not be one of the complaining kind."

Mrs. Black Ant ran back into her house with a merry laugh while Mrs. Cricket sang a song as she went about her business.

The Curious "Last Word" Katherine Gave Madge

"WELL!" my mother-in-law exclaimed when, with frequent excited interruptions and questions from her, I had finished my story of the happenings across the road. "I can see where we have that family on our hands for a while.

"Let me see," she continued speculatively. "We have more potatoes and cabbages and other vegetables than we can possibly use before Spring, and it's no use trying to sell them out here. And there's more milk than the pigs need, and the hens are laying fine now. We can send them milk and eggs and vegetables, and perhaps a flitch or two of that pork Jim put down last Fall. But it will take some money, besides. I hope you thought of that when you offered to take the care of them on your shoulders."

Madge Is Tactful.

Her tone held the old captious note, and I realized that, like a spoiled child temporarily on its best behavior, my mother-in-law had been "as good as she could be" for just about as long as she could stand it. That she was tired and exceedingly nervous with the strain of preparing for the impending arrival of her daughter and her distinguished son-in-law, I also knew, and hastened to proffer the Scriptural "soft answer."

"I don't expect to give them but a very little for their immediate necessities," I said placatingly. "To-morrow, if the father has not been released on bond, which appears entirely probable, I shall report their case to the Red Cross local, which will investigate, and if relief is necessary, will see that town funds provide for them. But I am sure the eggs and the milk will be welcome, anyway, with so many little children."

"I'm glad you had that much sense, anyway," she answered in a more mollified tone, ignoring the latter part of my little speech. "But I wish I'd gone over myself. However, I suppose you did the best you knew how. Do you want anything more of me to-night?"

"Why, no, thank you, Mother!" I answered hastily, fervently hoping that she would not detect the smile which I was heroically pressing back from my lips.

"Then I'll go to bed," she announced, rising. "I'm tired to death. You two would better go to bed; also, instead of chattering here half the night, as you're planning to do. We've all got a hard day in front of us to-morrow."

"You wrong us, Madam Graham," Katherine said lightly. "If Madge attempts to talk longer than five minutes, I shall stalk out and leave her spouting to the empty air."

"That's No Empty Threat."

"Humph! I know both of you as well as if I'd jointed and put you together," my mother-in-law responded. "You can't fool me! But I warn you, I shall call you both at six, no matter what time you go to bed."

"And that's no empty threat," Katherine groaned when my mother-in-law finally had taken her departure and I had closed the door behind her. "She means exactly what she says. Six o'clock! Ugh! That's my daily diet. I thought I'd be offen it for a day or two."

"And so you shall!" I said, indignantly. "You are under no obligation to rise at that hour just because she wishes you to."

"No-o?" she drawled. "Do you imagine for one fraction of a second that with the lady in her present frame of mind toward me, I shall do anything to add to her fancied grievance? Nay, nay, little one. I never yet have stirred up the circus animals at feeding time, and I don't intend to begin now. After all, I don't need the extra sleep. I'll have my regular eight hours if I don't tarry here too long, and more than that is only an enervating luxury."

"I'm glad you have a nice, philosophical name for it," I retorted. "But it's a shame to get you up, nevertheless. However, I suppose there's nothing else to be done, so I fancy we'd better postpone our talk."

"Not on my account," Katherine declared stoutly, but I knew that her fatigue was greater than she would admit, and I was inexorable in bundling her off to her own room, waiting only to reiterate my fears for Junior and to ask her opinion concerning him.

"There's no use in worrying," she said non-committally. "What can either of us do now? But—leave your door open to-night. I'm going to. Good night."

She went down the hall to her own room, while I battled with the impulse to take her by the shoulders and shake the meaning of her injunction from her. That she deemed it necessary for me to be within hearing of any noise in my mother-in-law's room, was clearly patent, for Katherine is not the woman to alarm any one unnecessarily. But why?

I lay awake for a long time, worrying over the warning she had given me. That she [illegible] meant me to sleep light, I was s[illegible], and when I finally did doze it [illegible] as with the subconsciousness which a nurse employs beside a sick bed.

Thus it was that in the middle of the night a hoarse, strangled, terrifying sound from my mother-in-law's room brought me to my feet in a panic-stricken instant.

TO THE RESCUE -:- -:- -:- By Juanita Hamel

THERE are many perplexities about being rescued that may tangle with the sigh of relief even as it rises from the heart. But every one fades before that most important question—who is the rescuer? Need she question? Doesn't her heart tell her—even though she may not realize Cupid is by her side—the one who paddles so swiftly to her is the ONE? Out of the haze of distance he comes and—recognizing him—she realizes that all her discomfort and all her fright were but a small price to pay to find shelter in the knowledge that his love is ever ready to guard her from all harm.

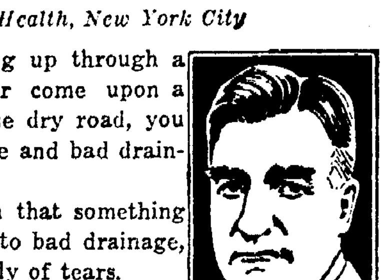

YOUR HEALTH

Why Some Eyes "Water" and What to Do for Them

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York

Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

DR. COPELAND

WHEN you see water bubbling up through a crack in the pavement, or come upon a muddy place in an otherwise dry road, you know there is a leak in the one place and bad drainage in the other.

When the eyes water it is a sign that something is wrong. The trouble may be due to bad drainage, or it may be caused by an over-supply of tears.

Nature is a wonderful engineer. She has supplied every animal with the machinery and equipment and planned the construction, so that all the expected demands and most of the unusual emergencies will be met without friction or failure.

There is no more wonderful example of the unfailing skill of Nature than the construction of the human eye. Perhaps, I should not limit this statement to the human eye, because the eyes of all creatures are marvelous organs.

Among the many details we might discuss, the method of keeping the front of the eye clean, glossy and transparent, is wonderfully ingenious.

As I write, I am riding in a railroad car. The windows are grimy, dusty, scratched and translucent, instead of perfectly transparent as we expect plate-glass to be. Contact with the weather, flying sand, smoke and all the other things which mar the surface of these windows, could do far worse things to the front of the eye, because it is softer, more delicate and more easily damaged than the flinty glass. To guard against such a calamity, Nature has planned the human eye so that a never-failing but invisible sheet of water is flowing across the exposed portions of this important organ.

This fluid, known to all of us as the "tears," is extracted from the blood-stream by specially-constructed glands at the outer angle of the eyelids. It flows over the surface of the eye, is captured by the lids and squeezed through tiny openings into a canal, which carries it through the tear-sac and another duct into the nose.

You can see that if anything causes the tear-glands to generate too much fluid, or if anything interferes with the free passage of the drainage system, there will be a disturbance in the balance and, in consequence, the tears will overflow the lids and streak down the cheeks. Then we have the condition, which, if it is there all the time, we call "watery eyes." It is as if the victim were constantly crying.

Need of glasses and consequent eyestrain, exposure to strong light, the wind and weather, inflammation of the lining membrane of the eyelids and catarrh of the nose, causing obstruction—all these are among the causes of "watery eyes."

You must not neglect your eyes and, since this particular trouble is usually easily curable, it should have early attention.

Answers to Health Questions.

V. P. Q.—In order to keep my face smooth I use——on it every night before retiring. Is this harmful in any way?

A.—No, it is not harmful to use the preparation you mention, but you should not use it every night. Once or twice a week when necessary is sufficient.

I. L. A. Q.—Will you kindly advise me whether or not it is injurious to trim the eyelashes and whether this will stimulate their growth?

A.—It is not advisable to cut the eyelashes. Apply 1 per cent solution of yellow oxide of mercury to the eyelashes to stimulate the growth.

M. D. Q.—Is it a true test of one's health to put a piece of litmus paper on his tongue and see whether it turns pink or red?

A.—No, this is not a test of the condition of one's health.

How to Make a Beauty Aid That May Serve You Well

By LUCREZIA BORI

The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

LUCREZIA BORI

TO keep a complexion of clear, even beauty, most women find it necessary to use some kind of lotion upon their skin. Now, there are all manner of things put up in bottles for this beautifying purpose, and it may be that you have found one which suits the needs of your skin exactly, and which you have already been using for some time.

If you do not have a special brand that suits your needs, you may find it interesting to experiment a bit. Women always take an interest in some simple beauty lotion which they can prepare at home themselves.

There's a certain satisfaction in following out recipes which you have discovered yourself, in knowing the ingredients that go into them are of the purest and best, and in brewing them with your own hands.

As you probably know, lemon is one of my favorite beautifiers. Lemon in various forms makes such an excellent toilet preparation. You can use the fresh half of a newly-cut lemon to cleanse your hands and oust the dust and grime which have lodged beneath your finger-nails. If you've been doing housework, which is never calculated to beautify the hands, you will find lemon one of the very best things to remove the stains which mar their smooth whiteness.

One of the most fastidious women I know keeps a lemon always at hand in her bathroom. Occasionally she rubs it over the tender skin of her face, and she seldom washes her hands without rubbing the lemon over them after she dries them. Its softening effect is truly delightful to dry, hardened skin.

Lemon, of course, is wonderful in its effect upon your face, and I'm going to give you an excellent recipe for a lotion you can easily make at home. You can realize its freshness and purity by simply glancing over the ingredients:

Rain water, 1 pint.
Essence of roses, 5 drops.
Fresh lemon juice, 1 tumbler full.

Mix these three ingredients together and put them in a well-corked bottle. Every morning after you wash your face and dry it carefully with a soft towel, put a few drops of the lotion on a piece of absorbent cotton and pat it gently all over your face.

Take a fresh bit of the cotton and pat it all over your face to dry off the lotion. Remember that you must treat your delicate skin as you would the most fragile rose-petal. Never make the mistake of drying it off with a rough towel. A rough towel is excellent to use upon other parts of your body. After your bath, a brisk rubbing of your body with a regular bath towel stirs up the circulation and makes your skin fairly glow with vigor and health.

But your face can glow with vigor and health from other causes. If you use a lotion to keep your face smooth, if you keep your circulation active by exercising in the open air and eat the proper kind of food, your complexion should glow with the color and freshness that spell health.

Try this lemon lotion and see whether it doesn't contribute to the smoothness and charm of your complexion.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON

The Authority on Home Cooking

Here Are Unusually Delicious Salads for Warm Days.

IN warm weather we cannot be too careful to serve food attractively. People are fussy with the heat and appetites are apt to reflect the mental state. What we would welcome in cool weather, we often find fault with, mentally if not audibly, on a hot day.

In the first place, all food should be fresh, well-cooked and served at just the right temperature. Garnishes should be crisp and fresh and eggs boiled just right. Food should be placed in the right kind of dishes and above all, served in modest portions. Lavish food display is very apt to repel instead of tempt a jaded appetite.

Consider food values and do not combine several delicacies in one menu that may fight instead of blending peacefully in the stomach. Perhaps salads are the greatest offenders in this way. The salads suggested below may serve as examples of safe combinations.

Macedoine Vegetable Salad.

There are two types of macedoine vegetable salads. The first is dressed with French dressing and served with cold cuts of meat such as ham, tongue, lamb's tongue and roast beef. The second version is dressed with light and rich mayonnaise made without mustard. The meats in this case should be lamb, mutton and veal and mayonnaise takes the place of fat in the meats. Use a bottle of prepared macedoine vegetables if you are in a hurry, if not, cook and cool those needed.

Fresh peas, finely-cut, well-strung string-beans, diced carrots, potatoes, white turnips and tiny button onions are suitable. When cooked, drain and cool the vegetables. Cook them until they are done, but not soft. Wipe the inside of the salad-bowl with a cut bud of garlic, then line it with carefully-washed red beet leaves. Toss the vegetables in just enough heavy French dressing to moisten them. Cut the heart of a head of lettuce into ribbons with the kitchen scissors and put one hard-boiled egg through the ricer over all to blend together the ingredients. Garnish with stuffed olives. This salad should be served cold, but not chilled.

For the second version of this salad, prepare the bowl in the same way, then sprinkle the vegetables with two tablespoonfuls of French dressing. Toss in enough mayonnaise to moisten. Garnish with egg rings and plain olives. These salads should always be served as soon as they are dressed.

Pineapple Fish Salad.

Take two cupfuls of cold, boiled whitefish, cod, flounder, lake whitefish. Pacific barracuda or halibut carefully and lightly flaked. Add a small cupful of chopped and drained fresh pineapple, a small cupful of minced heart of celery, a half cupful of finely-cut chives, two tablespoonfuls of French dressing, then mayonnaise enough to moisten. Garnish with sliced sweet pickle and stuffed olives, dust with paprika, and serve in lettuce leaves. This salad should also be served very cold but not chilled.

Stuffed Pear Salad.

Select large, juicy pears, pare and hollow out the cores of each half. Take a package of cream cheese and add to it a little salt and a half teaspoonful of sugar, a saltspoonful each of cinnamon and nutmeg and enough cream to make a soft paste. Put a spoonful of the paste into each pear and set it on a white lettuce leaf. Top each serving with a teaspoonful of mayonnaise made without mustard or other seasoning and place a cherry in the center of each pear. This salad should be served very cold and crisp. It makes a nice salad to use with a baked fish dinner.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have been going with a young man for over six weeks. I love him dearly. The last time he came to see me he asked to kiss me good night. Do you think it proper for me to permit him to kiss me? BROWN EYES.

BROWN EYES: It is unwise and improper to allow a young man to whom you are not engaged to kiss you, my dear.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am in love with a young man two years my senior and I have his ring and have another young man's pin. He has asked me to give the pin back. Please tell me what to do.

UNDECIDED.

UNDECIDED: If you are a wise girl you will give both pin and ring back to their owners. Then you will never find yourself in the embarrassing position you are in now.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of eighteen. Am I considered my own judge as to the company that I go with? I am self-supporting. I live with relatives. WONDERING ME.

WONDERING ME: Under the circumstances you should be allowed to select your own friends, my dear. But if you are wise, you will also consider the judgment of those older than you and who are interested in your welfare.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

We are two girls twenty years of age. We are in love with two young men two years our senior. Our parents object to our going with them. But we love them very much. It would break our hearts to give them up. Please advise us what to do.

CURLY HAIR & ROSY CHEEKS.

CURLY HAIR & ROSY CHEEKS: Unless you can gain your parents' permission to have these young men call on you at your home, you would be very foolish girls to see them any other way.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of twenty and I am in love with a young man of twenty-two. He has asked me to become his wife and I have consented, but he drinks and makes love to another girl. I am jealous. What shall I do? WORRIED.

WORRIED: Do you think your marriage would be very successful if this young man has such bad habits and is so disloyal to you, my dear? If he makes you so unhappy, it would be wise to break the engagement.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

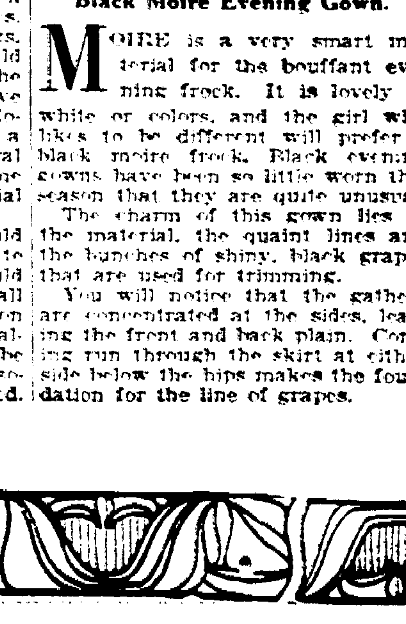

THURSDAY, AUGUST 23.

An exceedingly active day is predicted from the prevailing mutual aspects assisted by the lunar trine to Mercury, the planet governing all bargaining and selling as well as all manner of mental activities. Those professions in which writings, letters and publications figure should feel this stirring impetus, as the mind may be particularly responsive and sagacious and the speech eloquent and effective. This may be a good time for making contracts, oral and written. There may be some menace in the romantic or social relations.

Those whose birthday it is should look for an active and fortunate year in business, but they should be cautious and conservative in all other relations. A child born on this day will be quick, clever, talented and versatile, but it may be inclined to an over-fondness for society unless it is carefully trained.

Shiny Black Grapes Trim This Black Moire Evening Gown.

MOIRE is a very smart material for the bouffant evening frock. It is lovely in white or colors, and the girl who likes to be different will prefer a black moire frock. Black evening gowns have been so little worn this season that they are quite unusual.

The charm of this gown lies in the material, the quaint lines and the bunches of shiny, black grapes that are used for trimming.

You will notice that the gathers are concentrated at the sides, leaving the front and back plain. Cording run through the skirt at either side below the hips makes the foundation for the line of grapes.

Three-Minute Journeys

WHERE MEN TAKE ONLY ONE BATH IN A LIFETIME.

SOME of the finest specimens of the human race are the natives of Rhodesia, the most uncivilized section even of Africa.

The menu of the Rhodesian native is startling. The natives were astounded to see some explorers sit down to a tasty dinner of roast chicken.

Clothes are not a serious consideration with these people, although each gives great thought to his personal appearance.

ODD FACTS

Away back in the beginning the chief occupation of man was fighting. In battle he carried a shield in one hand and a weapon in the other. It was not much work to carry the shield, but the quick action required by the hand and arm which did the fighting soon developed that arm. It also developed the nerves and the half of the brain that governed the right side of the body. Those who shielded their left side—thus protecting the heart—were the ones who usually came out victorious. Down through the ages this selection continued, the right hand gradually becoming more proficient.

An ordinance amending Section 5 of Ordinances of Number 125 establishing the price which the West Lafayette Oil & Gas Company shall be entitled to charge for Natural Gas furnished to the consumers thereof in the Village of West Lafayette, Ohio, from the passage hereof until the termination of said franchise ordinance No. 125.

WHEREAS, The West Lafayette Oil & Gas Company has by virtue of authority conferred in ordinance No. 125, heretofore enacted by this council on August 2nd, 1921, furnished Natural Gas to the consumers thereof in the village of West Lafayette, Ohio, and

WHEREAS, The West Lafayette Oil & Gas Company is not receiving under the rates prescribed in said ordinance No. 125 sufficient revenue to properly operate and maintain a sufficient supply of gas adequate for said consumer and under the rates prescribed in said ordinance No. 125, it would be impossible for said Company to continue to furnish gas to said consumers without an annual loss, and

WHEREAS, the council of this village deems an adequate supply of gas to be of great benefit to the inhabitants of said village, and to that end believes that said Company should be granted the privilege of charging an increased rate for said natural gas in the village of West Lafayette, Ohio.

THEREFORE, be it ordained by the council of the village of West Lafayette, Ohio, that section 5 of said ordinance No. 125 be amended to read as follows:

SECTION 1. That said company, its successors and assigns shall be entitled to charge for said Natural Gas furnished to consumers thereof in the village of West Lafayette, Ohio, not to exceed the following rates: One Dollar and twenty-five cents ($1.25) for each one thousand (1000) cubic feet of gas sold and delivered with a discount of five (5) cents (on each one thousand (1000) cubic feet) provided the bills are paid at the office of the company on the 1? & ?0th day of each month following that in which the gas was delivered between the hours of one and eight P. M. Provided however, the said company may at its option charge a minimum flat rate to all consumers of One Dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per month. Nothing in this ordinance shall prohibit said company from making at its option a lower schedule of prices to manufacturers and large consumers than the schedule provided for domestic or small consumers.

SECTION 2. That upon the acceptance of this ordinance by The West Lafayette Oil & Gas Company and as soon thereafter as said ordinance takes ... into effect that Section 5 of Ordinance No. 125 be repealed.

SECTION 3. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law and after said The West Lafayette Oil & Gas Company has filed with the ... written acceptance of this Ordinance.

Passed in Council August 21 1923.
M. C. WOOLF,
Mayor.
E. L. THOMPSON,
Clerk.

We are asked many times for the best method to determine what plant food to give crops and from good authority we pass on the following advice:

"Where more than one analysis is recommended for a certain crop, observation and experiment are the best methods by which to determine the analysis suited to that crop.

By watching the crop for evidences of plant food starvation, as explained above, and by experimenting with two or three different analyses in small portions of the field, the most suitable analysis can be easily determined.

It must be kept in mind, however, that thorough and even mixing is of first importance. When you realize than an application of 300 pounds per acre means that each square foot of land receives only one-tenth of an ounce of fertilizers, you will understand why such extreme care must be exercised in mixing fertilizers."

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Profit taking sales were responsible for the reactionary movement in yesterday's late trading, again dominated prices in the foreign trading on the Stock Exchange.

Stocks showed a distinctly reactionary tone in the early dealings. Losses as high as one point were registered in leading industrials, but the market substantially recovered.

Most stocks displayed good resistance to selling pressure excepting the oils in which buying power was greatly impaired owing to the prevailing unsettlement in the industry. Sinclair oil was conspicuously weak, declining nearly two points to below 20. Pan American Pete lost nearly 1 point to 59. Maryland ¾ to ?? and Cosden over one point to 10?.

BANDITS PASS UP RAIL EMPLOYES

CINCINNATI, Aug. 23. "We don't want any money from railroad men," remarked a bandit early this morning when he, with two other gunmen, held up the manager and seven patrons in a cafe on Spring Grove av. Charlie Mead, the manager reported that the loot consisted of 75 cents from the cash register, $74 from patrons and a few bits of jewelry.

One of the trio of intruders recognized a button on one of the patrons and inquired "Are you a railroader?"

On being answered in the affirmative the bandit returned ... saying "We don't want any money from you."

BY KENNETH CLARK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 — The federal government has accepted the challenge thrown down by the operators and miners of the anthracite coal fields

"Quietly but forcefully, President Coolidge today put into motion all agencies at his command to speed up plans for assuring the country an adequate supply of fuel this winter.

Regardless of what is done by the opposing groups at Atlantic City and whether or not a new wage scale is established to prevent a strike on September 1, the administration is prepared at a moment's notice to launch a far-flung organization to distribute soft coal to all regions which would be distressed by a cessation of mining operations at the end of the month.

The president feels that the time for toleration or delay in the strike situation is rapidly drawing to a close, that with only nine days left before John L. Lewis, president of the U. M. W. of A., threatens to call the men out of the mines, definite material assurances must be given that no serious fuel shortage will result.

Officials here expressed the belief that the administration has been extremely tolerant to both sides in the struggle between operators and miners. This is not now however, it was said, the occasion for any more promises or threats. What the country wants is a guarantee of fuel supply and that it is the immediate duty of the administration to fill this need. It was this situation which prompted President Coolidge to order F. R. Wadleigh, federal fuel distributor to issue a call for a meeting of governors of hard cal consuming states in New York next Tuesday.

AUTO REGISTRATION

registration would take the place of bills of sale on file and in possession of the owner. This would give one central record in the state automobile department instead of 88 useless ones scattered over the entire state, Mr. Shover says.

Owners simply would register their cars with the secretary of state as now, and dealers could be required to furnish their customers with a sales report

Miss Edith Burrell, county clerk of courts, and Howard Shaw, former clerk, when interviewed relative to the recommendation, Wednesday, expressed themselves as favoring it. Miss Burrell said, "I am in favor of the proposed change because I believe it would greatly simplify the auto sale procedure and would eliminate much red tape for county clerks of court." Altho both Miss Burrell and Mr. Shaw said that they believed the Atwood law was in some respects, a farce, yet they felt certain on the other hand, that the expense arising from the enforcement of this law has been justifiable, in the preventing of many thefts of autos by mercenary thieves. "There is, in my opinion, however," continued Mr. Shaw "one condition, certain to arise in the event the suggested change is made, that might not work to the satisfaction of the general public A very large office force would be required at the state automobile department. Under the present law as many as 10 or 11 persons are employed in some counties of Ohio to do this work. With a host of office helpers in Columbus greater expense even than under the present system might, for very obvious reasons, accrue."

URGES CUT OF FED'L SURTAXES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23--Recommendations for the reduction of the federal sur-tax rates on incomes will be renewed at the next session of congress by Secretary Mellon, it was learned officially at the treasury department today.

Mellon thinks the maximum rate should be cut from 50 to 25 per cent so that more capital would flow into productive enterprises.

CLIFTON REPLIES

against him, utterly without foundation.

A request for the postponement of the hearing was made by one of the examiners when the new charges were brot Mr. Clifton requested that instead of postponing the hearing until October 19, it be set for an earlier date. He declared one week was plenty of time for him to amass his defense, but the date set by the examiners stood.

The following denial of the charges was made Thursday noon by the superintendent

"In regard to the charges relative to there being a woman in the case, a similar attempt was made to promote the same scandal by a disgruntled school book agent two or three years ago The board of education, hearing of the gossip, sent a committee, in the person of the president of the board, R. N Barnes, to investigate, and the report of the investigation completely exonerated me. Now Mr. Cresap, in conformity with the threat that he has frequently made that he would not rest until he had driven me out of town, maliciously charges me of being guilty.

"During the informal discussion at the hearing, E. G Lloyd Mr. Cresap's attorney, admitted that they did not have any direct evidence, that they had not found a woman to fit the case I deny the allegation and brand it as a dirty lie, told with the hope of discrediting me in the eyes of the people of Coshocton

"As to McCullough's credits, I have the certified credits from two recognzied institutions which, taken with the credits he had in the Coshocton high school, entitle him to graduation under the laws of Ohio.

"In regard to certifying the eligibility of players no one was certified who had not been previously approved.

"As to the charge of misappropriation of funds which should have gone to the Ohio State Teachers Association, I have receipts and letters to show that the charge is unwarranted."

Mr Clifton showed a Tribune reporter copies of letters which replied to the charge that he had misappropriated Red Cross funds They follow.
